Coal May Not Cost Consumer Over 18 Cents

Roscoe Dealer Declares Dealers Or Jobber Who Attempt To Charge More Will Be Reported To Fuel Administration And Prosecuted—Cost Of Hauling Must Be Actual Cost.

"Coal dealers who attempt to charge in excess of 18 cents a bushel for coal delivered from any mine within a radius of five miles of this city are liable to prosecution and will be reported to state fuel administration authorities."

This was the statement made last night to the Tribune by Bert West, Roscoe coal dealer, following the receipt of a telegram from L. A. Sneeds, of the Fuel Administration Commission at Washington, requesting him to supply immediately sufficient coal for emergency requirements as requested by the Ohio coal clearing house.

THE LEGAL SELLING PRICE

Mr. West stated that his first consideration will be to see that local consumers are not victimized by unscrupulous haulers and dealers and declared that mine owners must sell at the mine at the following figures:

Nut and slack, ton.....	$2
Mine run.....	$2.35
Lump coal.....	$2.60

Fuel administrator Garfield has granted an increase, not yet effective, of from 25 to 50 cents a ton or 1 to 2 cents a bushel to cover a wage advance to be granted to miners and laborers. This added to the above figures gives the maximum charge which can legally be made at the mines.

THE COST OF HAULING

To this must be added the cost of hauling which at present is five cents a bushel from the Morgan Run and Ingham mines and three and four cents from the Roscoe mines. This would make the cost of mine run coal not more than 16 25 cents a bushel from the Morgan Run and Ingham mines nor more than 17 25 for lump coal. Mr. West stated that because of the increased cost of feed an advance of a cent a bushel would not be deemed unreasonable but further advances would be deemed evidence of an attempted "gouge."

In reply to a letter from R. B. Dennis, of the Morgan Run Coal and Mining Co., the fuel administration wrote to Mr. West, enclosing "Orders relating to coal prices, and regulations governing the sale, shipment and distribution of coal."

MUST BE ACTUAL COST

In regard to the local situation the following order is quoted: "Coal delivered direct to the consumer from the mine, by wagon or truck (whether from wagon or other mines) shall be sold at not more than the prices fixed by the President and the Fuel administrator, plus the actual cost of hauling." The price "fixed by the President and the Fuel administrator" is that which the fuel administration should the dealers given above. Hence the order clearly indicates that a charge of over 18 cents for the best grade of coal is a violation of the regulations, and is punishable by a fine of $5,000, according to Mr. West.

Following the Tribune's expose of the intentions of local coal dealers to advance the price of coal to 21 cents a bushel, local manufacturing interests consulted Friday and threats are made to take the matter up with the state and the fuel administration is that utilities commission should the dealers attempt to carry out their plan.

Typhoid Is Fatal To Mrs. C. E. Shreffler

Mrs. Charles E. Shreffler, aged 47, died at her home on Elm street, Friday evening at five o'clock following a ten days' illness from typhoid fever. Mrs. Shreffler became ill ten days ago but her condition was not considered serious until a week ago when she gradually grew worse. Thursday morning she lost consciousness and death came peacefully, Friday afternoon.

Clara Burd was born in Newport, Pa., and was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Burd. She received her education in Newport and for several years taught school. When a young girl she united with the Presbyterian Church and has always been a faithful attendant. In 1833 she was united in marriage to Charles E. Shreffler and to this union one son, James, was born.

Mr. and Mrs. Shreffler made their home in Rochester, N. Y., and McCondsville, Pa., before coming to Coshocton five years ago. Mr. Shreffler is secretary and treasurer of the American Art Works.

Michael Mortine

Answers Summons

Friday morning at eight thirty o'clock, Michael Mortine, aged 83, died at his home three miles southwest of Plainfield. Two weeks ago, Mr. Mortine figured in a runaway accident and suffered two broken ribs. A few days later pneumonia developed and resulted in his death.

Michael Mortine was born in Alsace-Lorraine, Germany and while he was still a child his parents emigrated to this country, settling on the farm which he now owns near Plainfield.

His wife, who was a native of this country preceded him to the grave about ten years ago. Six children survive him, they are: Noah Mortine, Lucinda Mortine, and Alfred Mortine of the home, Mrs. Joseph Powellson of Coshocton, Mrs. Louis Summers, of West Lafayette and Mrs. Frank Brannon of West Lafayette. One child, who moved to Illinois several years ago is dead.

Funeral services will be held at the Catholic church of Linton township, of which he was a life long member, Sunday afternoon. Interment will be made at the Catholic cemetery three miles west of Plainfield.

COAL DEALERS TO SELL UNDER STATE LICENSE

Domestic Coal Consumer Gets A Rotten Deal

Manufacturing Company Stores Coal Against Emergency at 14c While Homes Suffer

That the domestic consumer is not getting a square deal from local dealers and jobbers is the only answer to a condition that exists here is the inference drawn from facts outlined by Bert West last night.

Mr. West declared that domestic consumers are crying for coal and paying as high as 18 cents to secure coal while the Coshocton Glass company was storing coal for reserve in case of shortage later at 14 cents a bushel delivered.

Saturday Is Tag Day For Army Relief

Saturday, October 20, will be tag day, and the money obtained will be used in the war relief work which is being done by the Salvation Army.

The War Service league of the Salvation Army has designed the above date as tag day. The Salvation army is organizing its forces to render what assistance it can along religious and humanitarian lines during the war.

Its efforts will include the purchase, manning, equipment, transportation and maintenance of ambulances for the front, the purchase and erection of buildings at mobilization camps, which will contain reading rooms, rest accommodation, lunch counters, auditoriums for meetings and writing rooms.

The work will be carried on in France and United States. Comdt. Douglas and Adj. Schroeder, of the local corps, will have charge of the tag day in this city.

POPE-GOSSER POTTERY NOW STANDS IDLE

In compliance with orders from President Menge, of the National Pottery Brotherhood, two hundred and fifty members employed in the Pope-Gosser plant walked out Friday.

Both on employees and management of the local plant are affected by the strike although neither are directly responsible.

The local plant will be closed at least a week, and probably longer, depending upon the result of the referendum vote of the brotherhood on the revised wage proposals. The vote will be taken next Monday and Tuesday. If the men vote favorably on the wage proposals the strike will be declared off.

Waste Is To Be Made An Asset

In an effort to conserve refuse from his creamery and turn it into a profitable asset, J. F. Dickerson is erecting a frame structure, 20 by 60 feet in dimensions and adjacent to the creamery, in which he will house poultry.

It will be fitted with rows on coops in which Mr. Dickerson will place several hundred chickens at once to fatten for the market.

COUGERS TO BE PUNISHED THRU REVOKING SAME

(By Associated Press) CLEVELAND, O., OCT. 12.—Attorney Homer H. Johnson, of Cleveland, late this afternoon accepted the post of coal administrator for Ohio offered him by Federal Coal Administrator Garfield, who was in Cleveland today looking into the coal shortage here.

Frank C. Baird, of Cleveland, who has been in charge of the coal shipped from here to other lake ports has been appointed coal distributor for the northwest and Canada.

To License Retailers
Retail dealers in Ohio will be licensed, Garfield announced, and the government will revoke licenses of any dealers who sell at higher prices than those to be named by the local committees.

Garfield tonight announced that the coal needs of the army and navy would have to be met first and after those, the needs of the domestic consumers. State Coal Administrator Johnson will take office at once, he announced, and will have his headquarters at Columbus, with branches at Cleveland and Cincinnati.

Name Local Adjusters.
Johnson will name a state committee of five subject to the approval of Garfield and President Wilson. State and local committees will then adjust the retail coal prices for every community on the basis of national mine prices. The committees will hold hearings, at which the interests of operators, railroad dealers and consumers will be represented, and will work out the local schedule of prices upon which licenses will be issued to dealers.

Bread Prices To Be Forced Down

WASHINGTON, OCT. 12.—The price of bread must come down. If the bakers of the nation do not reduce prices drastic action will be taken by the food administration, officials said today.

President Wilson's recent proclamation which placed foodstuffs under the licensing agreement and gave Herbert Hoover power over many food commodities did not mention bread. Officials would not comment on this omission.

It was authoritatively learned today (Continue On Page 5.)

Local Girl's Brother Hurt

Mrs. Katherine Houston, nurse in the City hospital was called to Columbus last night at midnight by the serious illness of her brother, James Houston. He was injured in a motor cycle accident Friday afternoon and sustained a fractured collar bone and other injuries.

Organize Red Cross Society At Orange, O.

A branch of the Coshocton County Red Cross society will be organized this evening at Orange street. The meeting will be held in the Orange M. E. church, and will begin at 7 o'clock.

City Officials Are Negligent Is Charge Made

No Effort Made to Regulate Conditions Here—City Official Charged With Hoarding Coal

That city officials are negligent in caring for the interests of the citizens of Coshocton is charged. It is pointed out that no effort has been made to regulate conditions here.

One official having over 100 bushels of coal in stock is said to have asked a dealer to deliver him more coal before the price advanced, a delivery which would have meant that some other delivery be delayed, perhaps needed by some one who had no coal in reserve. Coal hoarding means hardship on the poorer classes, who are least able to meet it, say fuel administration men.

Private consumers are at their wit's end to secure coal. Some have tried for days to secure delivery but in vain or with the promise of delivery four or five days later. There are homes in the city with less than a bushel of coal on hand unable to secure delivery until Monday or a later date.

Second Draft Increment To Be Called Out

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, OCT. 12.—A discussion of the advisability of expediting the call for the second increment of the draft army now is in progress at the war department and it appears likely that the date may be fixed for some time in December or January.

Roy Whiting Is Summoned

Funeral services for Roy Whiting, aged 26, who died at his home in Newcomerstown Friday morning, will be held from the home Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Burial will be made at Newcomerstown.

The young man was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Whiting, and the family resided in this city until about six years ago. Mr. Whiting enjoyed a wide circle of friends, being one of Newcomerstown's most popular young people. The news of his death is a decided shock to relatives and friends, as he had been ill only a little over a week, and the sickness had not been considered serious. Death was due to appendicitis.

Mrs. Nora Whiting, a sister, lives in this city and is employed at the Coshocton Glove company.

Mr. Whiting is survived by his parents, four sisters, Nora, of Coshocton, Mrs. Jacob Barnhart, Nova and Pauline, of Newcomerstown, and four brothers, Lester, Joseph and Willard, of the home, and Harrison, of Massillon. Mrs. Mary Hines, his grandmother, also survives.

Rainbow Division Is Ready To Leave

In a communication to the Tribune Harry King, with the Rainbow Division, states that the division has everything packed, "stoves down and ready to do at any time." He states the men expect to go within a week.

Fuel Shortage May Close The Local Schools

Little Coal At Buildings Admits Superintendent Bryant—School Board Has No Contract With Anyone For Supply W. B. Miller Says He May Get Coal But Price Must Be Paid.

Coshocton schools are likely to soon be forced to close because of lack of coal.

This was admitted last night by Superintendent C. E. Bryant who stated that there was little coal at the building and that W. B. Miller "is supposed to supply the schools."

W. B. Miller was then called and stated that he had no contract to supply coal, but had been doing so at the prevailing figures. Some of the coal had been bought at the Williams mine.

It appears that the city school board has not contracted for the supplying of coal, although warned that a coal shortage and high prices were almost certain. Other cities are in much the same predicament, seven Columbus schools being closed Friday because of lack of coal.

School board members had an opportunity, it is said, to contract for the year's supply at 15 cents a bushel but neglected to do so, saying that they had decided to allow Mr. Miller to take care of the matter.

Mr. Miller declared last night that he would be able to get coal next week but "they will have to pay the price."

Electric Light And Power Will Not Be Impaired

Manager C. H. Howell, of the Ohio Service company, stated to The Tribune last night that his company would not be embarrassed by the coal shortage as it had contracted for the entire output of the David Davis mine near Conesville.

Just what this means to this and other cities can be realized when it is recalled that the company is supplying current for light and power for this and 19 other municipalities. It also supplies steam heat to a number of county, municipal and business offices as well as residences and apartments in the central part of the city.

Manager Howell stated last night that his company's plant on North Fourth street consumed 130 tons of coal daily. This is 20 tons less than is mined daily at the David Davis mine.

Domestic Consumers To Be First Cared For By Local Mines

The local dealers must put the interest of domestic consumers first in the construction placed Friday upon a telegram from national fuel administration authorities by Bert West, Roscoe coal dealer.

The telegram follows: "Washington, Oct. 11. 'We have been advised of a shortage of domestic coal in Ohio pending the appointment of a state fuel administrator. The Ohio coal clearing house of the Council of National Defense will advise you at once of extent or immediate needs. The fuel administrator requests you to arrange to supply immediately sufficient coal for emergency requirements as requested by Ohio coal clearing house.'

"L. A. Sneeds." Mr. West stated last night that should dealers or jobbers attempt to block the "supplying of sufficient coal for emergency requirements" thru "gouging" they would be reported to fuel administration authorities for prosecution. Jobbers are selling coal to the Kendall Coal and Mains company, of Cleveland, for $2.10 a ton placed on immediate needs. The fuel administrator requests you to arrange to supply immediately sufficient coal for emergency requirements as requested by Ohio coal clearing house."

Scores Sanitation At Camp Sherman

Arthur Brunsell, reporter on the Tribune before going to Camp Sherman, Chillicothe, with the contingent which left this county Friday, October 5, has written a short, breezy letter home, from which the following are extracts:

"We had a great trip over, lots of fun; lonesome as could be Sunday, gloomy Monday, and dead tired tonight (Tuesday)."

"Drilled all day Monday and Tuesday, played some football and a few other games. I am so stiff and sore that moving is no fun, and requires lots of effort."

"Brunsell is a member of Co. E 308 Engineers. There are about 15 Coshocton boys in the same company."

POSITIONS FOR ALL

Canton is growing rapidly and needs more bookkeepers, stenographers, cashiers, billing clerks and office workers in all lines.

The last 8 months the employment department of the C. A. B. C. was called on to furnish 673 graduates for business positions. We could fill only 142 of these.

What Does This Mean?

It means that 530 good opportunities were lost to that many young men and women because they were not educated for the work the business world wants done and is willing to pay for.

COSHOCTON COUNTY LIBERTY LOAN COMMITTEE

Friday evening the local C. H. S. football boys put in their last practice before the battle with Doane academy this afternoon. The game will be played at the Red Sea and started at 2:30 o'clock. The town has been canvassed by students with tickets and a large crowd will doubtless attend. Next Saturday Coshocton will play Zanesville at Zanesville.

Wherever a woman knits a ray colored sweater when she might be knitting for the desperate need overseas she is by her criminal negligence exposing some one to illness and possible death. Every ball of fancy yarn is one ball of yarn taken from the possible supply of khaki or gray. It is practically impossible to buy khaki today, and the reason is that women have taken to fancy knitting with a fury with which almost no other fad has ever swept the country. It is authoritatively stated that the supply of knitted things our soldiers can never come up to the demand—and still the women WASTE yarn. Women slackers such as these are committing crimes against the nation which are a little less serious than the dishonesty of branded traitors. Can you not, dear Madam Chairman, help to make the women of your community and county realize that knitting for themselves—and thereby creating a scarcity of yarn—is as unpatriotic as a prodigious feast in wartime. That the serious consequences of this selfish use of yarn and time make bright colored sweaters and scarfs symbols of a lack of patriotism? The splendid lives that were needlessly wasted last winter in France for lack of sufficient warm clothing, cry a dreadful warning. God grant that the ears of American women soon will be open to their message.

Your very sincerely,
Mr. George Zimmerman,
Chairman Woman's Auxiliary Committee,

WEEKLY REVIEW OF FINANCIAL MARKETS

NEW YORK, OCT. 12.—The downward trend of values continued another week with but slight intermission. Explanations are proffered all or nearly all, having their origin in the war and its effects. Derangement of the money market is the inevitable and most conspicuous influence. It is allowed to charge more for what they have to sell, a manifest and serious injustice. Professional selling aided the decline, but this was a small factor compared with those just mentioned.

On the other hand, there are a number of encouraging influences which for the time being are disregarded. Our magnificent and extraordinarily plentiful harvest is a striking instance. The country has been favored with a bumper crop of corn, of 2,200,000 bushels, which compares with the previous high record of 2,100,000 bushels. Our wheat crop was 65,000,000 bushels, or 20,000,000 bushels in excess of last year, but considerably below the record. The quality of the wheat is exceedingly fine, and every bushel that can possibly be spared will be required by our Allies. For wheat, corn, oats and cotton the prices are extraordinarily high, and our farmers will revel this season in a prosperity never before equalled or dreamed. The total agricultural product of the country is fairly estimated at about $17,000,000,000 or $18,000,000,000, as against an estimate of $12,000,000,000 made in midsummer. The significance of these figures rests in the fact that the agricultural classes will be liberal spenders during the next six months, the effect of which will be to stimulate the demand for all products consumed in the home. This prosperity will be distributed throughout the West and the South. The Pacific Coast is also enjoying great business activity, while in the East the pressure upon industry to supply war materials and the high wages received in many departments of labor also insure a large consumption to meet domestic requirements. High prices will of course, restrain demands in some quarters, falling as a positive hardship upon those whose incomes have not correspondingly enlarged. The process of adjustment however is already at work, and will slowly develop more normal relations between supply and demand, probably by partly lowering prices and partly by advances in wages.

Our foreign trade is at last returning to more normal conditions. The exports in August aggregated $190,000,000, a decrease compared with last year of $24,000,000, due in part of the embargo placed by the Government upon exports to neutral countries. The imports during the same month were $275,000,000, an increase of $17,000,000. The decrease in exports and increase in imports will, if continued, aid in placing our foreign trade upon a more normal basis and improve the foreign exchange situation; the latter must remain under the domination of huge foreign borrowings until the close of the war. During the past eight months our exports aggregated $1,152,000,000, while our imports amounted to only $2,019,000,000, leaving an abnormal and not altogether satisfactory excess of exports.

Congress adjourned this week and will resume its operations next December. Meanwhile the political outlook will be clouded by the forthcoming election. Just what the outcome will be it is difficult to forecast owing to the complex situation resulting from the war, which overshadows all domestic issues.

Germans To Continue Terrorism In French Provinces Is Program

FRENCH FRONT IN FRANCE, SEPT. 26.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—French evidence of the German campaign of terrorization in Alsace-Lorraine comes to hand every day. Since the beginning of hostilities German courts-martial sitting in the annexed provinces have inflicted sentences totalling 5000 years imprisonment on citizens of Alsace and Lorraine whose sole offense has been the expression of opinions favorable to France. All classes and all districts have suffered.

Since Alsace and Lorraine were annexed by Germany in 1871 until the outbreak of the war in 1914, no fewer than 500,000 of the inhabitants of the provinces, according to official figures, have migrated to France. Immediately after the declaration of war three years ago, every one of real Alsatian or Lorraine origin who could find a way to do so, made a hurried departure over the frontier line. Hundreds of those remaining, owing to their inability to leave in time, were at once seized as suspects and sent to prison or internment camps, where they have been kept in confinement for three years.

While the migration was in progress the younger and more daring spirits among the men of Alsace and Lorraine took the still more serious step of joining the French army. Over 30,000 of them have fought beneath the tricolor since the war began. Many of them by their heroism, have gained high rank, while numbers of their comrades have made the great sacrifice.

In addition to the men in the ranks and among the minor officers who have fought for France, the two provinces have supplied many military leaders of high renown, among them no fewer than five generals have sealed their patriotism by dying a soldier's death in fighting the Germans. These five were Generals Sibille, DuPuy, Dion, Truncliet-Faber and Stirn.

Wealth Follows Wealth.
Wealth means opportunity. It means travel, music, art, literature, culture, if you will. Even religion must have its golden basis. Wealth builds schools, universities. Chicago spends annually $25,000,000 that our youth may have vision. Big business enterprises transforming the world rest upon accumulation of great wealth. Rob the world of its wealth and it would recede to barbarism.

Lesson in History.

SAGE TEA DANDY TO DARKEN HAIR

Look years younger! Use the old-time Sage Tea and Sulphur and nobody will know.

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost overnight if you'll get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or is fading faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

This preparation is a toilet requisite and is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

England To Back France In Aims

LONDON, OCT. 12.—Germany's challenge that she "will hold on to Alsace-Lorraine while a German hand can grasp a gun," stands answered today by Premier Lloyd George.

The ringing declaration by the premier that England will stand by France in the latter's fight for her lost provinces, received hearty praise from the British press.

The newpapers take the stand that France's demand for Alsace-Lorraine is based upon justice, and that Mr. Lloyd George's words are in complete accord with the lofty sentiments involved.

Parliament will convene on Tuesday and it is expected that the premier will make further references to war aims, either on opening day or shortly afterward.

Germany Makes Seventh Appeal For A War Loan

The "Financial World" says: "From all manner of privations and bur Germany and the United States stand with arrows for loved ones lost embarking simultaneously on an arduous sea or in battle on land, are compelled to their people for more of the long path for the seventh time and whereof to carry on the war. It lays their savings on the altar of the second undertaking of the United States for sacrifice. . . . With the United States Government and the seventh appeal there will not and cannot be any of the peoples of the Germanic States commanding of savings as in Germany. We have increased our supply of money, but our people must heed only gold since 1914 by the sum of $1,000,000,000, the promptings of patriotism and devotion, while Germany is in such a need of all grace to the flag and the plight for adequate gold supplies the Government to inspire them to buy has been compelled to ask her people Liberty Bonds. The capital is here to turn in their rings, gold watches, in abundance. The gain in profits to the farmers alone in a year, thru the might be replenished, and yet the supply has fallen to a point where the normal price of farm products over $6,500,000,000 or sufficient to more than twice cover the total cost of 1915. . . . The contrast between the positions of the two nations is striking and yet Germany has started off in her appeal with no rebuffs. MAJ. GEN. LEONARD WOOD

(Highest Ranking Maj. Gen. in U. S. Army)

In an address in Little Rock he denominated "boozie" the worst enemy of the army, and strongly advocated war time Prohibition. He said in part: I am glad the Twelfth Division of the new national army is to be trained in Arkansas, a "bone-dry" state. That will eliminate three-fourths of our troubles. Drink is the soldier's worst enemy.

THE BIGGEST WAR PROFITEER

Speaking of our war profits there is one interest profiting from the war which even Senator La Follette seems to have overlooked. It is the landed interest. Whenever the manufacture of war supplies has caused a boom there the landlord has quietly absorbed in increased land values and rents a large part of the wages of the workers and the profits of their employers.

The city of Chester in Delaware County, Pennsylvania, will serve as an example. There the manufacture of war munitions has caused house rents to double, and manufacturers have to pay for land two or three times the amount for which it could have been bought six months ago. The total increase in land values in Delaware County since the entry of the United States into the war is estimated by a writer in the Philadelphia North American at $25,000,000. And Congress, in its wisdom, does not intend to levy on cent of war taxes upon this $25,000,000 of war profits amassed in five months.

To properly estimate the outrageous volume of this discrimination, let the fact be borne in mind that the ordinary profiteer must give something in return for what he gets. He must give guns, ammunition, ships or other supplies to produce which requires much labor and risk. But the landlord gives nothing at all except permission to use the earth. He takes toll from the manufacturers for locating on a site he controls, and from his employees for living where they can get to work. He takes this toll not only from those engaged in production of war supplies, but from all others as well.

Business men and workers to whom the war brings no financial gain must pay higher rents as well as the war profiteers. In addition, the revenue bill which Congress is now passing, will force them to pay higher taxes on what they consume and increased income taxes. And this is to be done in order that the landlord's war profits may be exempt.

Chester's example is only one example of what is taking place everywhere in the United States where the war has stimulated industry. To take these unearned profits to pay for the war is provided for in a bill introduced by Congressman Cresser of Ohio. But this bill is slumbering in a pigeon hole of the House Ways and Means Committee. Congressmen and Senators responsible for this negligence, may be called upon by constituents to explain.

A 100 PERCENT MOVEMENT

Figures have been given by the government to the effect that the home garden movement of last spring resulted in the addition to the nation's food supply of 1,000,000 worth of garden and truck produce. It is estimated that the housewives of America have put up about 1,000,000 cans and jars of fruits and vegetables since the first of June.

The above, of course, is a first estimate, but it is known that the garden movement in the home has far surpassed all previous years. A further estimate is even approximately correct, the fact is, however, and is indicative of what our people can do under the stress of a great crisis.

It will not do, of course, to give all the credit for the success of the home garden movement to the big campaign last spring waged in its behalf thru the newspapers and by patriotic societies of all kinds. This program doubtless did vast good, but self-interest was perhaps the prevailing factor. The scarcity of "garden truck" in months previous and the certain knowledge that prices would be exorbitantly high the coming winter roused the spirit which drove countless home-keepers to the back yards and vacant lots.

Every additional potato and cabbage and turnip and carrot and beet that was raised was a clear addition to the wealth of the nation. Had town people not thus engaged in trucking the farmers of the nation would have been wholly unequal to the task of supplying the nation's needs. Not only would prices have been much higher, but many of the most dependable and necessary vegetables could not have been had this fall at any price.

When the average grain farmer increases his acreage of wheat it is likely to plant less corn. But the land put under cultivation as a result of the home garden movement last spring was another clear economic gain to the nation. It was land that had long been out of use, perhaps never used before. It was cultivated at the home-keeper's spare time and here was another 100 percent gain as compared with former years.

There was also a distinct physical and moral gain to the country. Scores of families here in Coshocton and literally hundreds and even thousands of them in the larger centers of population cultivated portions of their back yards or one or more vacant lots who had never done similar work before. Every member of a family so engaged must have derived mental exhilaration, physical strength and skill and a spiritual uplift that comes alone from contact with Mother Earth.

It was a good investment—so good that it ought to be tried again next spring on even a larger scale. Uncounted thousands of American families had gardens this year who never had them before. The experience gained this year will repay them ten-fold next year. Price tendencies on the whole are still upward and this applies particularly to the things we eat.

Without our municipal vacant lot gardening this year we would have been hard pressed as a people for substantial things to eat next winter. And those who, thru indolence or some excusable disability failed to join the movement this year, should get in for the spring of 1918. It is a movement that should not be allowed to lapse for many years to come, at least until the spectre of famine ceases to stalk thruout Christendom.

The German minister of war thinks the soldiers should be informed as to the causes of the war. But wouldn't informing the German armies as to the real cause of the war result in a speedy ending of the war?

Ferretto, the Italian historian, says he looks to the United States to head a disarmament movement. But just at present it seems to be the armament movement that is bothering your Uncle Samuel.

With the government's final warning to drafted men and considering what has happened locally in the last few weeks, it looks as if about all the slack had been taken out of the slackers.

Be joyful. If you had a salary of $6,000 a year you would have to pay a war profits tax as well as an income tax and of course you wouldn't want to do anything so rash as that.

We haven't just got the straight of this Bolo Dasha affair, but as near as we can recall it must be the middle part of a new college yell.

A Youthful Philosopher

By F. A. MITCHEL

"Will I have decided to break our management."

"What have I done to?"

"You have done nothing. My decision comes simply from worldly wisdom. I have no income except what you pay in the way of salary. In case you should we will be beggars."

"Now do you know that this is worldly wisdom? How do you know but that my marriage with the girl I love will prove a stimulus which will lead to fortune?"

"I don't, but I know that a bird in the hand is worth two in the bush."

"What is the bird in the hand?"

"None. I am simply breaking with you on account of lack of provision for marriage, not that I have a more advantageous offer."

"You will not lack for offers."

"Nevertheless my heart is yours."

"Well, my friend, I commend this worldly wisdom of yours, though it comes from a barely eighteen year old man. There seems nothing for me to do but to accept it. To attempt to force myself up you under the circumstances would be to drag you down to my level by marrying a man of means, you might rise to his level. This I am willing to do. Moreover, I suppose I must get romance out of our heads."

"Out of our hearts, you mean."

"Out of our hearts. You will become one with the girl you marry; I will become one with the girl I marry, and—"

"Soon forgetful in her."

"The tone in which this was spoken was not philosophical; it was regretful."

"That's the natural outcome of such cases."

He put out his hand to say goodbye. She took it, with a sigh. He bent forward and kissed her; then, with simply a goodbye, to which there was no response, he took his departure.

A week later he received a note from her to say that she should be an exchange of letters between them. If he would call withers she would have his ready for it. When he appeared he wore an over's uniform.

"You are not going to sacrifice yourself in this horrible war," she said.

"I'm going to fight on the side of the allies and the United States."

"They say that of the men who go to the war only one returns."

"That may be, but it's my duty to go."

"Why is it your duty to go to the war?"

"Because I am an aboriginal young man. It is the duty of such to respond to their country's call."

There was a silence between them for some minutes, at the end of which she said:

"By this act you have widened the breach between us."

"I did not suppose there was a breach between us. I thought that you did not wish to incur responsibilities of matrimony without a permanent income."

"Yes, and now you are arguing where there are two chances in five of your being killed."

"In the one case it is matter of choice. In the other a duty."

"When do you go abroad she asked mournfully."

"Tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock, I suppose. But you must say anything to any one about sailing. Nobody in America is to let it. The departure of our troops is known to the higher officers."

Seeing a package of letters on a table, he took it up and another package in his place. To be said goodbye and was leaving when she had a hand on his arm. He turned. She was looking at him wistfully.

"I thought we had said 'goodbye,'" he said.

She made no reply, but threw the same wistful look. He kissed her.

"Your eighteen-year-old philosophy is not working well. You need brace up," he said. Then he departed.

The next morning she called at the barracks where his regiment was housed and asked for him. A soldier was sent to find him, and pretty he came.

"Well, I can't stand this. If you are going to France to be killed, I want to be your wife."

He regarded her with a morbid seriousness.

"You are taking upon you a great disadvantage. Better follow your philosophy. If you do, ten years from now you will be a happy widower."

"I'm going to tie myself to you."

"There is no obligation, there is no duty."

"I care nothing about my duty, and I am one, and even the widest cannot separate us."

He caught her in his arms and she released her called in a stentorian voice:

"Orderly, ask him the regimental chaplain and ask him to come here."

The chaplain came, and the two had already been one in heart and mind in law. A few hours later when the regiment marched to the front that was to be in France, attended by mothers, sisters, wives and sweethearts, these two, a bride and groom, walked hand in hand.

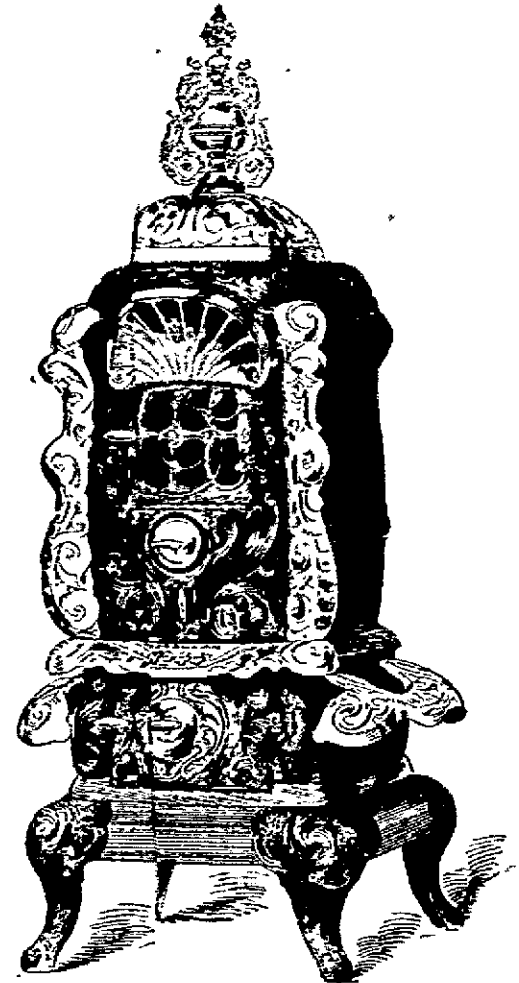

"What an inglorious ending of your philosophy," remarked the regimental chaplain.

"It was true nonsense," replied the bride.

WRITES FROM CHILLICOTHE

The following letter was written by Emory Darr who is stationed at Camp Sherman, to his brother, Perry Darr, Chillicothe, Mo., October 2, 11.

Dear Brother:

I have at last come to replace where I have to send you message from "Camp Sherman, William Smith, and I were going Chillicothe tonight, but it is raining, so we won't go. The boys are ordered from nine o'clock to eleven p.m., so we don't have to be in Chillicothe now.

There is a show tent in the camp, now I don't know what kind of a show it is but we will have to see some of these evenings.

You ought to have been here this morning, you would have seen something you nor none of your friends have seen, there were 200000 soldiers in the big field and one of the big war airplanes made a turn from Dayton over here, and came down for about an hour and then went up and made an exhibition flight. There was a great band out there, too. There were two men in the airplane. They would go up until it looked like a toy, then they would let it go and would fall just like a club, coming down on a Chestnut tree. Then they would get control of it in an instant. There surely was something done.

We started our last evening work this afternoon by having a little bit of railroad track on the camp to haul provisions over the guard duty is some thing. The boys about 15000 more boys arrived this week. When we were out on duty today I saw a two little birds on a tree that was covered early and it was not doing very good. It was all right but no color at all.

I am afraid the early snow will not be very good this year. It is very dry over here. We had a little shower the other night, but it didn't do much good, for the boys are drilling. There are forty regiments here. They sure are some. I wish I could buy one of them bring one to my home.

The barracks is about ten feet from the barracks door. There are a few cabs coming to town all the time. The street car line comes within a half mile of the barracks, you ought to have been here Sunday. It was just the fair. There were just at crossing. They would not one a little bit and then it other.

There were cars from every where. I saw cars from New York, and from as far south as Florida. I did not see any from west of the Mississippi river but I expect there were some here. Our house just has two divisions in it, the kitchen and dining room composed one part. The sitting room, parlor and bedroom is the other part. We get all we want to eat. Well as it is getting late, and I am getting sleepy, I expect I will have to close, but remember I could write a book on this camp life. If I had the time. But when I see you I can tell you more in fifteen minutes, than I can write in two hours and it will be what you want to know.

Good bye.

Emory Darr, Company A, 368th Engineers, Camp Sherman, Chillicothe, Ohio.

Aluminum.

Bauxite is a mineral that contains aluminum in a combination which the electric furnace will tear apart, thus producing the metal. Clay also contains it in vast quantity, but the trick has not yet been turned to set free the aluminum in clay. So bauxite is used.

TRACE DISEASE TO CONSTIPATION

Dr. J. V. Lee, of Chicago, Ill., has discovered a new method of treating the disease known as "trace disease," which is the cause of constipation. HAVE COLOR IN CHEEKS

Be Better Looking—Take Olive Tablets

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study with his patients.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color.

To have a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days you must get at the cause. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects.

They start the bile and overcome constipation. That's why millions of boxes are sold annually at 10c and 25c per box. All druggists. Take one or two nightly and note the pleasing results.

HE HAS IRON IN HIS BLOOD

That is why he is such a great winner, accomplishes so much, why he overcomes obstacles and knows no such thing as failure.

Iron in the successful formula for Pepton, which also includes pepsin, aux, celery and other tonics, sedatives and digestives, helps to give strength, color and body to the blood; reddens pale cheeks, steadies the nerves, nourishes and gives stamina to the whole body.

Pepton is in pill form, chocolate coated, pleasant to take, easily assimilated—the most successful combination of iron that its makers, C. I. Flood Co., Lowell, Mass., know of. It is the medicine for you. It will put iron into your blood.

WELL-EXPANDED LUNGS NOT ENOUGH

Pure blood is indispensable to the health and strength of the lungs. The delicate structure of these organs makes it necessary. When the blood is impure the lungs lose their tone, and even if they are permitted to expand freely, they have not the power fully to perform their important work. The fact is, there is nothing more necessary in our physical economy than pure blood—the kind of blood that Hood's Sarsaparilla makes. This medicine is the good old reliable family remedy for disease of the blood, scrofula, rheumatism, catarrh, and low or run-down conditions of the system. At this time, when coughs and colds are so prevalent, Hood's Sarsaparilla is an invaluable tonic. Get it today, and begin to take it at once. Accept no substitute.

COOKED BANANAS.

Fried or Baked, They Are a Delicious and Nourishing Food.

Americans already eat millions of bananas a year as raw fruit, but our capacity would be much larger, according to the food economists. If we would use it more extensively as a cooked food. There are many ways of cooking bananas, and in most of the lands where they grow fried and stewed bananas are staple articles of diet.

The banana contains as large a percentage of carbohydrates (starch and sugar) as does the potato and nearly the same proportions of other constituents, with the exception of potassium. It is not a perfect substitute for the potato, but very near it.

Most American housewives do not know how to cook bananas. For fried bananas peel and split them, dip each half into well beaten egg, then into the breadcrumbs and fry in hot oil.

More digestible are baked bananas. Bananas may be baked whole, one side of the skin being stripped back in this case, or they may be peeled and cut in halves. The fruit should be put in a baking pan, sprinkled with cinnamon, a half cupful of sugar, a pinch of salt and tiny bits of butter. Pour into the pan a half cupful of water and bake frequently while baking in a quick oven. Lemon juice may be substituted for cinnamon, making it into a slurr before baking, then pouring over the fruit when placed in the oven. Apples may be baked with the peeled bananas, and the combination is delicious.

SHARK MEAT IS RANK.

But the Arabs of Aden Eat It Both Fresh and Dried.

Shark fishing is an important industry at Aden, Arabia. The poorer classes of the inhabitants depend on this fish for their only taste of sea food. Some of the meat is dried and preserved in salt. The fins and maws are shipped to China, and the livers produce an oil that is used for a varnish on boats.

The Arab in his primitive boat, or dhows, a flat bottomed craft of some 150 tons burden, finds his best fishing grounds between Aden and Shikra during the cool months from October to March. He uses both nets and hooks. Fishing is sometimes done from a small boat, but this is dangerous, as a large fish occasionally overturns the boat, and the fishermen become the prey of other sharks.

Small sharks are sold in the Aden fish bazaar for about half the price of other edible fish. Fresh shark meat is very strong, and one must develop a taste for it to enjoy it.

Maleh, or salt dried shark meat, has the largest market of any of the by-products. It is used in such quantities by the Arabs of the interior that the local market cannot meet the demand, and much of the meat consumed has to be imported from the Arabian gulf ports. Like the fresh meat, maleh is strong in taste and odor.—New York Sun.

Kangaroo Mother's Bravery.

During a severe drought in a certain section of Australia the owner of a country station was sitting one evening on the porch when he saw a kangaroo lingering about, alternating approaching and retiring from the house, as if half in doubt and fear about to do. At length she approached the water pails and, taking a young one from her pouch, held it to the water to drink. While her baby was satisfying its thirst the mother was quivering all over with apprehension, for she was but a few feet from the porch where one of her foes was watching her. The baby, having finished drinking, was replaced in the pouch, and the old kangaroo set off at a rapid pace. The spectator was so much impressed by the astonishing bravery of the affectionate mother that he made a vow and kept it—never again to shoot a kangaroo.

Foolish Question.

An official who was making a recent assessment roll because of some recent street improvements called at each house on the improved streets to learn the names of the property owners. At one house he climbed out of his car, went to the door and knocked.

"Who owns this property?" he asked.

"Why, I do," the woman answered.

The official got her name and put it down in his book. Then he took a squint at the size of the lot.

"How many feet?" he asked.

"Two, of course," the woman snapped, wondering whether he thought she was a centipede.—Indianapolis News

ONCE A WIDE CANAL.

Broad Street, New York. Where the Curb Brokers Now Operate.

The curb brokers of New York, who now operate on Broad street, would have been forced to conduct their business from gondolas or canalboats had they made use of that thoroughfare in early days, for where solid pavement now stands there was a wide canal.

Many people nowadays, wandering through the narrow streets of lower Manhattan, have wondered at Broad street's unusual width. Still more peculiar was such breadth of thoroughfare in the olden times, when streets were nearly all narrow, and to distinguish it from the alley-like byways that surrounded it the thoroughfare was referred to as "the broad street."

The Dutch called it the "Heere Gracht." (The latter word had a far different meaning in those days.) It was not at first a street, but the principal canal of the city. This canal, wide enough for heavy boats to pass each other, ran into Broad street at the southern end and continued north almost to Wall street. A similar but smaller canal ran through Beaver street.

Peter Stuyvesant in 1657 had the canal's sides planked, and a few decades later the waters were gradually replaced by a street.

As that street perforce followed the canal's former lines, it was much the widest thoroughfare in all lower Manhattan and well merited its name of Broad street.

BREAD PRICES

that Hoover very shortly will take summary action with the bakers. For more than two months now the food all lined with cork to keep out the dampness and the national organization has been in a state of confusion. They have been unable to reach any agreement. Bakers have a feature of their discipline being that, except on certain occasions, silence was obligatory. Since 1911, when the monasteries and convents of Portland from 16 cents. The food administration was dissolved, the convent has been as persistently declared not been occupied, though it is open that present bread prices are exorbitant to the public, a caretaker residing there for this purpose.—Wide World.

IS STUDYING SITUATION

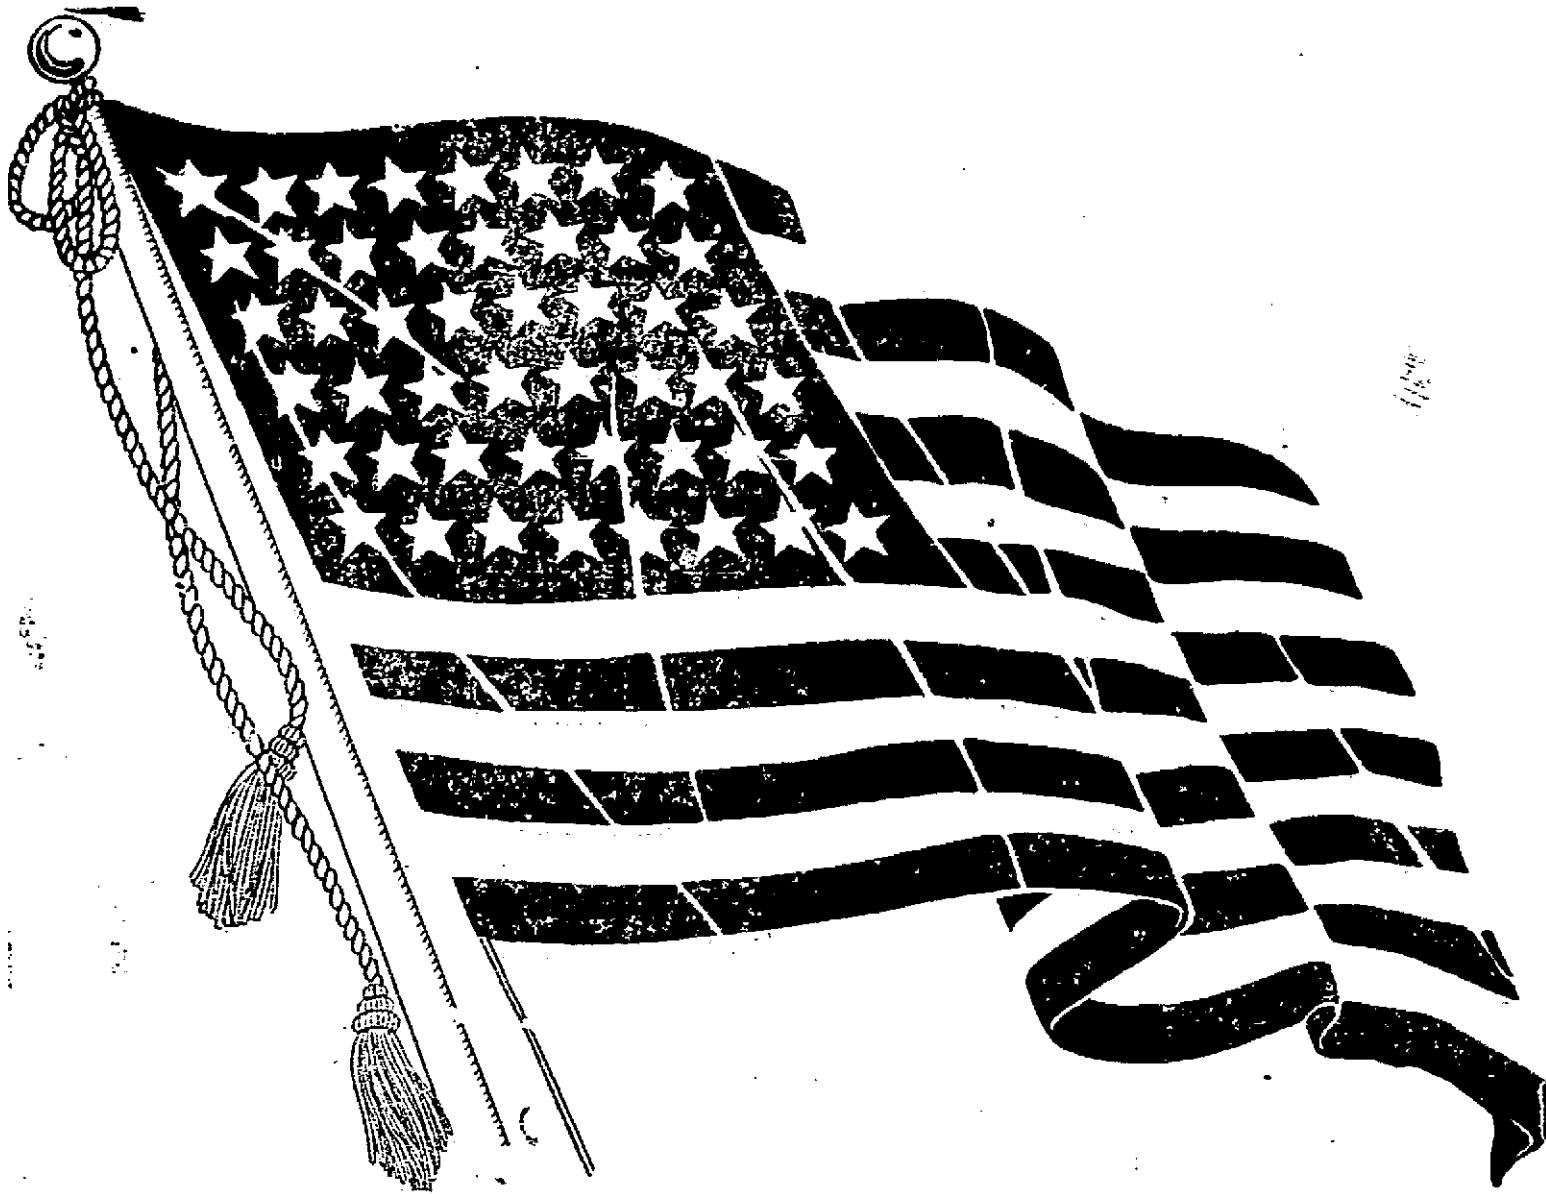

Hoover has not forgotten the bread question. It was stated at the food administration today. He still has the of price, although other royal children have many privileges. They are also learned that he has made a thorough study of the recent report made and they could claim to be served on the food and trade commission and one knee at table when the king is not putting together all of the data obtained by his own agents.

President Wilson will take the last and final step in the matter. It is confidently expected here that within a few days by proclamation the president will place the bread industry in the hands of Hoover. At the same time it is expected that a statement from Hoover will show that the bakers are the only food producers who have thus far failed to meet the requirements of the food administration.

It matters become serious enough, there are many close to Hoover who believe he will go as far as to take just think of being put on the auction block and being men bid for the food. Hoover is back of a plan to ask congress at its next session to pass legislation providing for a municipal bakery in Washington, D. C. This is believed to be an experiment by which Hoover hopes to convince the government that it can provide bread for the people at a better advantage than private corporations.

Hoover is out to lower bread prices and despite the resistance of the bakers, those who know Hoover and his temperament, declare that bread prices are going down.

WHAT are YOU doing to prevent the same thing happening to us. We, the people of Coshocton County, are in the war. Read the letter as an illustration of sentiment and spirit possessed by the men who are dying on the European battle fields---for what---for Democracy and as a reminder for we Americans who may be backward in buying Liberty Bonds. This letter is from Captain V. G. Tupper of the Canadian Scottish 16th Battalion, to his father, Chas. H. Tupper, before his death at the battle of Viney Ridge last April.

My Dear Father:

I am writing one of these 'In case' letters for the third time, and, of course, I hope you will never have to read it. If you are reading it now you will know that your youngest son 'went under' as proud as Punch on the most glorious day of his life.

I am taking my company 'over the top' for a mile in the biggest push that has ever been launched in the world, and I trust that it is going to be the greatest factor toward peace.

Dad, you can't imagine the wonderful feeling; a man thinks something like this: Well, if I'm going to die, this is worth it a thousand times.

I have 'been over' two or three times before, but never with a company of my own. Think of it—a hundred and fifty officers, and men who will follow you to hell, if need be. I don't want any of you dear people to be sorry for me, altho, of course, you will, in a way. You will miss me, but you will be proud of me.

Mind you, I know what I am up against and that the odds are against me. I am not going in the way I did the first time, just for sheer devilment and curiosity. I have seen this game for two years, and I still like it and feel that my place is here.

So much for that. I want to thank you from the bottom of my heart for all your loving kindness to me. This war has done wonders to me and makes me realize lots of things I would not have done otherwise. I could write a book about it but you know what I mean.

Good-by, dear father and mother, and all of you. Again I say that I am proud to be where I am now.

WHALE MEAT TASTES
AS GOOD AS BEEF
"Several kinds of new sea food are being put on the market," says the November Woman's Home Companion. The writer of the article on sea food says:

"Whaling is not what it used to be, but there are still some one thousand five hundred of them killed each year on the Pacific Coast. In the body of each of these whales there is ten thousand pounds of first-class meat. The Japanese whalers retrieve this meat and find ready market for it at home. The American whaler throws it away."

"It is a fact not currently appreciated that the whale is not a fish. Its flesh has no fishy taste whatever. The whale is a warm-blooded animal, is a mammal which suckles its young. Its flesh is therefore comparable with that of other mammals such as the cow; it is steak."

"An enterprising whaler last season brought some whale meat into Seattle and placed it in the butcher shops and had it served at the hotels. It sold for ten cents a pound, and the hotels served steaks for forty cents that would have a dollar-fifty had they been beef. Guests ate of the whale meat and pronounced it as good as beef. Last year, also, the same experiment was tried at Long Beach, California, and the whale meat sold readily in the butcher shops and was liked by consumers. So it is earnestly urged, in these trying times, that housekeepers and hotels use the steak of these 1,500 whales, which is equal in nutritive value to the meat of 100,000 prime porkers."

Seed ears not gathered from the standing corn should be selected at husking time and stored in a shed or room where good circulation of air is assured. The corn may be suspended from a wire in a well-ventilated shed or attic. The windows should be closed only at night or on rainy days. Artificial heat is beneficial in case the ears are not well dried out when winter sets in. Corn not thoroughly dry will be injured by cold winter.

FIGHT FOR YOUR LIFE

Duty Demands Robust Health
Fight to get it and keep it

Fight—fight day in and day out to prevent being overtaken by ill health. Keep thinking from morning to night and the body from losing its youthful appearance and buoyancy. Fight when ill-health is coming with its pallor and pains, defects and debilitating powers. Fight to stay its course and drive it off.

But fight intelligently. Don't fight without weapons that can win the day for you. Without the intelligent use of effective weapons the pallor spreads and weakness grows and a seemingly strong man or woman oftentimes becomes a prey to ill after all.

You will not find this class of persons in the hypoferrin ranks. No unhealthy, dull, draggy, drooping persons in that line. It is a hale, hearty, robust aggregation of quick-witted persons who view life in a joyous frame of mind and are mentally and physically equal to any emergency. Hypoferrin stands for sound body and sound mind—it is the invigorating tonic of the times.

—powerful and unsurpassed as a health restorer, vitalizer and health preserver. Fight to hold the vigor of a sound body with hypoferrin or to stay the process of decay and restore health and strength—you win. This tonic of amazing, wonder-working properties has been approved by physicians as a restorer and safeguard of health.

It is a thoroughly scientific preparation of the very elements necessary to tone up the stomach and nerves, to build strong, vital tissue, make pure blood, firm flesh and solid, active, tireless muscles.

Hypoferrin contains those mighty strength-producing agents, iron and iron phosphate, in a form best adapted to benefit the body and its organs. Its ingredients are absolutely necessary to the blood. In case of iron deficiency, iron is taken into the system, and iron phosphate is taken into the system.

Your mental and physical strength and endurance depend upon a healthy and iron-potentiated blood. Healthy, steady, dependable nerves and a healthy stomach with its food meet the body at an angle.

This wonder tonic, hypoferrin, which is as perfect as science can get to nature, meets every essential demand of the human organism. It is safe and sure and a boon to run-down, worn-out men and women. Hypoferrin means nature's own way of bringing color to the cheeks, strength to the body and buoyancy of youth. The powder and pulp way of effecting this beauty is not needed. Hypoferrin is a tonic and a gift.

Their blood, filled with nature's beauty stores, creates conditions that give firmness and grace to the body and the glow of health to the cheeks.

No need of going through life sickly and always feeling miserable in this age of medical science. Join the hypoferrin ranks. It puts into you the strength and vigor to live and enjoy life and to live into your body and mind that inspires the confidence that you confront the world on an equal footing with every one.

Hypoferrin may be had at your druggist or direct from us for $1.00 per bottle. It is the world's most popular and the Best Remedy Co., Chicago, Ill.

Proof Would Be Forthcoming.
"My publishers say I have written a great novel and that they will publish it for only $500." "Maybe that stuff about its greatness is just talk, girlie." "No; they say they will send me the proofs when they get the five hundred."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Something of a Compromise.
Mina was greatly attracted to a neighbor a few blocks away from home, and agreed that she was his little girl, whenever he questioned her about it. One time he said: "Well, if you are really my girl, come home with me to live. Go on and get your hat." Mina hesitated a moment, gazed around the familiar room, and then replied: "I'll be your little girl, but I'll stay here with mamma and papa."

Cut Glass Is Fragile.
Cut glass probably would break more easily than uncut glass. The pattern in cut glass is cut by means of grinding wheels. Uncut glass patterns are usually milled. The angle in cut glass are better defined and sharper. The cutter also may, in some cases, drive his wheel a little deeper than in other spots. Obviously, the glass at such points would be thinner and more fragile.

The Individual.
The initiation of all wise or noble things comes, and must always come, from individuals—generally at first from some one individual. The honor and glory of the average man is that he is capable of following that initiation; that he can respond internally to wise and noble things.—John Stunt Mill.

RAIN HALTS HAIG'S MOVE

For the first time since he started his series of attacks against the German position in Flanders, Field Marshal Haig had to cease an operation before all the objectives were attained. It was not the German guns, however, that stopped the British, it was a very heavy rainfall which started during the battle and made the ground impassable.

The drive, as has been customary, was started in the early hours of Friday morning and extended from near the Houtholst wood to below the Ypres-Commin road. At several points the British troops gained ground over fronts ranging up to a thousand yards, but here the rain put a stop to the day's fighting. During the forward movement over the six mile front, the British captured about 600 prisoners.

The Germans were expecting the battle for several hours prior to the attack, they had down a heavy barrage fire along the line interspersing the rain of steel and explosive shells with asphyxiating gas bombs.

Considerable artillery activity still prevails along the French front, but no important infantry engagements have taken place.

Likewise in the Austro-Italian theater and in Macedonia the big guns are doing all the work. In the Riga sector of the Russian front the Russians against have been forced to go ground to the Germans under a heavy artillery fire. However, the Russians in counter attacks have recaptured trenches which the Germans took Wednesday.

Unofficial reports from Amsterdam are to the effect that Vice Admiral Von Capelle, the German minister of marine, has resigned. Since his exposure of the mutiny on board German battleships, the minister has been violently attacked by the independent socialists and the socialist newspapers generally.

Ideals Concerning New Testament are All Wrong, Charge

In the "Instruction" which forms part of each Mission service, the Rev. Mr. L. E. Daniels said at Trinity church Friday evening that the current ideas about the relation between church and New Testament are utterly wrong. As soon as the Lord had ascended and sent the Holy Spirit the Apostles went everywhere preaching, baptizing, establishing churches, and setting ministers over them, the church was there perfect and doing all its work and not a word of the New Testament was yet written.

Presently inspired men of the church began to write it. It everywhere reflects details about a church already existent and complete. This church was made to continue, to live on thru the ages and it is with us today. Some religious bodies were later founded upon some peoples' ideas about what the New Testament teaches but the ancient church was all the time here. And it was not founded upon the New Testament—rather the New Testament was not meant to be a text book for starting churches.

There will be no Mission services on Saturday but on Sunday there will be three services, at 7:30, 10:30 and 7:00 p. m. The Missioner will speak at each service. At the 10:30 service his subject will be "Half-Way Men."

Liberty Loan Moves Slowly

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, OCT. 12.—The Liberty Loan has moved only $18,730,550 nearer its 5 billion dollar goal or approximately one third of one percent.

The total for the entire campaign as officially announced tonight, is at less than 7 per cent of the basis of returns reported today and including subscriptions reported to all reserve banks except Minneapolis up to the close of business yesterday. At the rate of subscriptions reported today it would take from eight to nine months to obtain the 5 billion dollars desired.

The particular need of the campaign, according to a statement issued tonight, is an increase in the number of small subscribers to spread the message of the loan and with this end in view, the rallying cry of "Ten Million Liberty Loan Buyers" will be sounded thruout the land in the coming days of the drive.

Bad Weather Halts The Fair At Dover

Seventeen thousand, three hundred people attended the fair Thursday. The Amphion band of Uhrichsville was present and furnished excellent music thruout the day Thursday.

GIANTS ARE FAVORED IN THE BETTING

NEW YORK, OCT. 12.—The Giants have now become the favorites in their home town to win the world series. Odds are 10 to 2 on the series or 3 to 1 on the fifth game in Chicago tomorrow.

CHICAGO, OCT. 12.—The fifth world series game here tomorrow may be played on snow covered fields. That was the indication today when the weather man tried to camouflage the landscape into looking like Christmas. Snow fell during the night and early today and heavy clouds cast a gloom over the city that was in keeping with the spirits of the fans after yesterday's second successive defeat in New York.

The weather man promises "unsettled and warmer" for tomorrow. The "unsettled" is the part that is bothering the fans. As the weather man failed, society will meet in the secretary's office at that time. The fair business repetition for Saturday.

TAKE SALTS FOR THE KIDNEYS IF YOUR BACK HURTS

We Should Drink Lots of Water and Eat Less Meat, Says Noted Authority on Kidney Disorders

Recommends a Spoonful of Jad Salts In Glass of Water Before Breakfast to Stimulate Kidneys and Eliminate the Uric Acid

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked, get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy, the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.
